male and female relationships, oppression, friendship, rivalry, jealousy, spirituality, love, and confusion. Maru revolves around a love square, not a triangle, of two men and two women. Maru by Bessie Head - Goodreads Bessie Amelia Emery Head, known as Bessie Head (6 July 1937; 17 April 1986), was a South African writer whom, though born in South Africa, is usually considered Botswana's most influential writer. She wrote novels, short fiction and autobiographical works that are infused with spiritual questioning and reflection. Bessie Head - Wikipedia BESSIE HEAD, one of Africa's best known writers, was born in South Africa but spent much of her life in Botswana. She died tragically early, in 1986, leaving behind her a fine collection of literary works. Maru - Bessie Head - Google Books Bessie Head's (6 July 1937 - 17 April 1986) writing occupies a transitional place in African literature between the domestic, village-centered writing of the 1950's and 1960's and the more overtly political and urban writing—much of it written by exiles in Europe and in North America—that came later. Unlike many of her contemporaries who fled South Africa and apartheid, including Es'kia Mphahlele and Lewis Nkosi, Head traveled only as far as Botswana. Analysis of Bessie Head's Novels | Literary Theory and ... Born from a white mother and a black father, Bessie Head grew up in the early stages of Apartheid South Africa. In Maru she reflects upon her own experiences of love, loneliness and prejudice. Prejudice spreads as one discriminates against another and creates false images.
