The Harley in the Barn Forgotten Books Excerpt from Youth in Harley This is Mis' Whitney's, he said. If you find it's all right, I guess Jim '11 help ye take in your trunk. Thus, sitting quiet in his wagon, he let the young man meet his landlady unannounced. Stephen's introduction to the house was easier than he had been led to expect. Mrs. Whitney herself came to the door, a portentously thin figure in a shapeless gray dress, with gray hair drawn tight across her temples in a way that accentuated the emaciation of her face. She was not lovely to look at, yet the quiet depth of her voice, when she spoke, made one forget to think her grotesque. Mr. Quaid? She said gently. The train must have been late again to-night. Your room is waiting for you. My husband will help you bring in your trunk. James! About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Harley-Davidson Bloomsbury Publishing Check out this in depth history and guide to one of Americas oldest and most popular motorcycle manufacturer! As the dominant manufacturer for the first two decades of this century, the Indian Motorcycle Company is a staple in the history of American motorcycling. Because of this, Springfield, Massachusetts was at the hub of the international motorcycle scene. Between 1900 and 1917, when the United States entered World War I, about 150 domestic motorcycle companies came and went. Little more than a dozen remained in business following the war, and after the great depression of the 1930s only two American manufacturers had survived Indian and Harley-Davidson. This definitive chronicle of America's first motorcycle is an essential for any cycle aficionado. It features concise hardware histories of every model produced by the Indian Motorcycle Company from 1901 to the mid-1950s, when the company ceased production. Also included, is a unique color directory of the great motorcycles built by the celebrated Indian Motorcycle Company. Arranged chronologically, this superb reference work features special commissioned color photographs of all the landmark models that you won't want to miss!
