Towards Gender Equity in Development Independently Published

Esta es una historia de tres generaciones que se ven envuelto en tragedia de sufrimiento y dolor para convertirse todo en progreso y amor. Todo comenzó como un gozo y alegría. Convirtiéndose en un infierno de mala suerte. Para ellos y los descendientes de ellos. Ellos murieron en un accidente automovilístico pero dejaron una hija que fue el comienzo de la segunda generación y su nombre fue Martha. La pusieron en una casa de adopción y ella fue adoptada en dos ocasiones. Terminando criándose en una institución de niños huérfanos y abandonados. Ella fue violada por el cocinero de la institución cuando ella tenía catorce años. Ella luego tuvo un niño de esa violación y el cocinero al ser descubierto, se ahorcó. Ella murió en el hospital de complicaciones de su anterior embarazo. Entonces, el niño, al nacer vino siendo la tercera generación. La directora de esa institución odiaba tanto a Martha como a su hijo. Pero la directora, cuando Martha murió, el diagnostico que le dieron de su muerte no le agradó. La directora puso al abogado de la institución para que se encargara del caso. Y el abogado rápido actuó, encontrando la verdadera razón y demandando al hospital por una fuerte suma de dinero. Luego la directora, quien era egoísta y ambiciosa, creía que iba a disfrutar de ese dinero. Pero el señor juez puso el dinero en una cuenta del banco para cuando el niño sea mayor de edad. El niño se escapó de la institución a la edad de doce años. Y si ustedes quieren saber todas las demás escenas existentes que ocurrieron en el transcurso del libro tendrán que leer el libro.

Consuelo Hernandez's precious poems are fueled with the universal pulse of life. Her poetry speaks across the challenges of contemporary time, space, and language to get at the essence of what makes us human. -Andrea Rothman, author of The DNA of You and Me A voice that goes inside and wanders in the expansion of her landscapes, is a witness, engages and questions without finding answers, gets angry and becomes subjunctive. Consuelo Hernández captures the reader with a rhythm that blows away terrors and resists breaking in the many enemy raids. -Lila Zemborain, poet. New York University Poet of uprooting, migration, and a new cosmopolitanism that brings to United States poetry the pain of the abused and oppressed with musicality and beauty. A poetic voice overcoming the atrocities of the present world as seen in the closing verses: "Let's draft a new cartography /another undiscovered path /for a new era is dawning. / Dreaming is free!"-Víctor Fuentes. University of California, Santa Barbara Los preciosos poemas de Consuelo Hernández se alimentan del pulso universal de la vida. Su poesía habla a través de los desafíos del tiempo contemporáneo, el espacio y el lenguaje para llegar a la esencia de lo que nos hace humanos. -Andrea Rothman, author of The DNA of You and Me Una voz que se interna y deambula en la expansión de sus paisajes, es testigo, participa e interroga sin respuestas, se enoja y se hace subjuntiva. Consuelo Hernández atrapa al lector con un ritmo que avienta los terrores y se resiste a quebrarse entre tanta redada de enemigos. -Lila Zemborain, poeta. New York University Poeta del desarraigo, la migración, y de un nuevo cosmopolitismo que trae a la poesía de los Estados Unidos el dolor de los abusados y oprimidos con musicalidad y belleza. Voz poética venciendo las barbaridades del mundo actual como se ve en los últimos versos: "Fijaremos otra cartografía / otra ruta inédita / para el tiempo nuevo que amanece / ¡Soñar es gratis! -Víctor Fuentes. University of California, Santa Barbara.

It is an optimistic outlook that reframes any situation as a learning experience. Kevin Estela teaches survival skills from this feeder-based perspective, which is what separates his teaching style from other wilderness instructors. Kevin has written the quintessential guide for an outdoor enthusiast's "bucket list" of skills—how to make a fire, build a shelter, gather food, find water, use a knife correctly and make cordage. These skills will keep you safe and better prepare you to deal with emergencies in the field, when you'll need the additional skills of signaling and communication, navigation and crisis first aid taught in this book. Each chapter concludes with more advanced techniques to build your skills in various challenging situations, with tips that even seasoned survival enthusiasts haven't thought of. 101 Skills You Need to Survive in the Woods is not a onetime read but a lifetime reference you will turn to over and over again. It will become the first thing you pack for any adventure and just might save your— or someone else's—life. kevin estela, a bushcraft and survival expert, is an avid world traveler and martial arts instructor.

In this insightful set of interviews with today's popular Chicano/a writers, Hector A. Torres asks each about the influence of language in their craft and the creative drive that commits them to their art. In sharing their responses, Torres offers a brief biography of each author and a concise examination of their writings. Taking their accounts individually and collectively, Torres explains how each author reiterates issues that have concerned Mexican Americans since at least 1848.

The Argentine dictatorship of 1976 to 1983 set out to transform Argentine society. Employing every means at its disposal - including rampant violation of human rights, union busting, and regressive economic policies - the dictatorship aimed to create its own kind of order. Lindsay DuBois's The Politics of the Past explores the lasting impact of this authoritarian transformative project for the people who lived through it. DuBois's ethnography centres on José Ingenieros, a Buenos Aires neighbourhood founded in a massive squatter invasion in the early 1970s, and describes how the military government's actions largely subdued a politically engaged community. DuBois traces how state repression and community militancy are remembered in Joé Ingenieros and how the tangled and ambiguous legacies of the past continued to shape ordinary people's lives years after the collapse of the military regime. This rich and evocative study breaks new ground in its exploration of the complex relationships between identity, memory, class formation, neoliberalism, and state violence.
