Poirot Investigates is a 1924 short story collection by the famed English mystery novelist Agatha Christie. The collection contains eleven stories all starring Christie's most famous creation, the detective Hercule Poirot. "The Adventure of the Western Star" concerns an American film star named Miss Mary Marvell who receives a threatening letter demanding that she return her most prized diamond jewel to the eye of an idol where it was found. "The Tragedy at Marsdon Manor" is about an insurance agent who asks Poirot to investigate a man who dies of an internal hemorrhage just weeks after signing up for a hefty life insurance policy. "The Adventure of the Cheap Flat" concerns a rather trivial matter that escalates into a tale of murder and intrigue. Poirot becomes interested in the mystery of how some colleagues of his were able to obtain a much desired flat in a fancy part of town so cheaply. "The Mystery of Hunter's Lodge" follows the son of a baronet and husband to a film actress who receives word that his uncle has been murdered. "The Million Dollar Bond Robbery" is about the theft of a million dollars worth of bonds and the efforts of Poirot to prove that his associate Philip Ridgeway is innocent of the crime. The real culprit is revealed to be Mr. Shaw, one of two managers of the bank entrusted with the bonds. "The Adventure of the Egyptian Tomb" describes the death of a famous Egyptologist of heart failure and the death of the Egyptologist's financier of blood poison. The deaths are suspicious for having taken place just a fortnight apart.

Miss Marple and Hercule Poirot both make appearances in Agatha Christie's Double Sin and Other Stories, a sterling collection of short mystery fiction that offers double the suspense, surprise, and fun. In one of London's most elegant shops, a decorative doll dressed in green velvet adopts some rather human, and rather sinister, traits. A country gentleman is questioned about a murder yet to be committed. While summoning spirits, a medium is drawn closer to the world of the dead than she ever dared imagine possible. In a small country church, a dying man's last word becomes both an elegy and a clue to a crime. These chilling stories, and more, cleverly wrought by master Agatha Christie and solved by the inimitable Hercule Poirot and Miss Jane Marple. A Hercule Poirot Short Story e-artnow Poirot receives a visit from Miss Mary Marvell, the famous American film star on her visit to London. She has received three letters, handed to her by a Chinese man, which warn her to return her fabulous diamond jewel, the "Western Star", to where it came from - the left eye of an idol - before the next full moon.
