Money, Banking, Financial Markets and Institutions

McGraw-Hill Education
 Bank Management and Financial Services, now in its ninth edition, is designed primarily for students interested in pursuing careers in or learning more about the financial services industry. It explores the services that banks and their principal competitors (including savings and loans, credit unions, security and investment firms) offer in an increasingly competitive financial-services marketplace. The ninth edition discusses the major changes and events that are remaking banking and financial services today. Among the key events and unfolding trends covered in the text are: Newest Reforms in the Financial System, including the new Dodd-Frank Financial Reform Law and the Credit Card Accountability, Responsibility, and Disclosure (CARD) Act of 2009. Global Financial Sector coverage of the causes and impact of the latest "great recession." Systemic Risk and the presentation of the challenges posed in the financial system. Exploration of changing views on the "too big to fail" (TBTF) doctrine and how regulators may be forced to deal with TBTF in the future. Controlling Risk Exposure presentation of methods in an increasingly volatile economy

Financial Management for Nonprofits Emerald Group Publishing Excellence is almost always the aim of any nonprofit. Achieving excellence requires sound planning, marketing, and production. But these areas of performance can be weak and the nonprofit may still survive-unless it finally fails to pay its bills. Solvency-the management of cash flow-is the one absolute requirement for survival-and excellence. This workbook offers the nonprofit manager a self-study program of readings, case studies, practical analytical problems, and bookkeeping. The book is adapted from materials prepared by James Babcock for the finance course in an experimental Arts Management program offered in 1995 by the Center for Global Business and Executive Education at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Virginia. Mr. Babcock holds an MBA degree from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and is the retired Chairman and CEO of First Virginia Bank of Hampton Roads. He has served as a board member and chairman of a number of nonprofits, including Old Dominion University, Virginia Symphony, Virginia Opera, Virginia Maritime Heritage Association, WHRO Public Radio/TV and others. His practical advice is based on his experiences both in banking and with these community organizations.

In 2011 the World Bank—with funding from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation—launched the Global Findex database, the world's most comprehensive data set on how adults save, borrow, make payments, and manage risk. Drawing on survey data collected in collaboration with Gallup, Inc., the Global Findex database covers more than 140 economies around the world. The initial survey round was followed by a second one in 2014 and by a third in 2017. Compiled using nationally representative surveys of more than 150,000 adults age 15 and above in over 140 economies, The Global Findex Database 2017: Measuring Financial Inclusion and the Fintech Revolution includes updated indicators on access to and use of formal and informal financial services. It has additional data on the use of financial technology (or fintech), including the use of mobile phones and the Internet to conduct financial transactions. The data reveal opportunities to expand access to financial services among people who do not have an account—the unbanked—as well as to promote greater use of digital financial services among those who do have an account. The Global Findex database has become a mainstay of global efforts to promote financial inclusion. In addition to being widely cited by scholars and development practitioners, Global Findex data are used to track progress toward the World Bank goal of Universal Financial Access by 2020 and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. The database, the full text of the report, and the underlying country-level data for all figures—along with the questionnaire, the survey methodology, and other relevant materials—are available at www.worldbank.org/globalfindex.
